

Lab 3.1: Personalized Opportunity Analysis

Hands-on Lab | Module 3, Lesson 1 | Company: SkillBoost Corporate Training

Introduction

Having strengthened your objection handling, you now shift to growing existing accounts. A current SkillBoost client uses the customer service training program and may be ready for leadership development. In this lab, you will analyze the account data to find expansion triggers and draft a brief, culturally aware pitch for one opportunity.

Learning Objectives

After completing this lab, you will be able to:

- Analyze account data to identify expansion triggers.
- Complete an expansion opportunity worksheet for an account.
- Draft a culturally aware pitch for an expansion opportunity.

Tools and Resources Required

Lab 3.1 Starter Workbook (account data and analysis worksheet).

Personalization Checklist and Expansion Opportunity Worksheet (downloadable resource).

The reading: Global Sales and Expansion Playbook.

Instructions

1

Open the Lab 3.1 Starter Workbook and review the account on the Account Data tab. The account is a regional retail client that uses the customer service training program, shows high course completion, and has recently promoted several staff into management roles.

2

On the Expansion Analysis tab, record the usage signals, growth indicators, and success milestones that point to a leadership development opportunity, entering your answers in the yellow cells.

3

Score the readiness of the opportunity and identify the recommended next step.

4

Draft a brief, culturally aware pitch of four to five sentences for the leadership development opportunity.

Expected Output

A completed expansion opportunity worksheet.

A 4-to-5 sentence culturally aware pitch.

Summary

In this lab, you read an account for expansion signals, scored the opportunity, and drafted a personalized, culturally aware pitch. Grounding expansion in real signals and tailoring the approach is what makes cross-selling feel like a natural next step.
